Climate Change and Globality in Hispanic Early Modernity –
Globalidad en la temprana modernidad hispánica

Deadline for submissions: 15th July 2021

Climate Change and Global Studies are important curricular components of an increasing number of universities in the United States and elsewhere. Laberinto Journal, <http://laberintojournal.com>, will publish a special issue on Climate Change and Global Studies in the Hispanic world which seeks to address recent developments in climatology, historiography, geography, biology, etc., as applied to early modern literature and cultures. The selection process ensures that all submissions are double peer reviewed. Please send your manuscripts for consideration to both Juan Pablo Gil-Osle at jgilosle@asu.edu and Daniel Holcombe at daniel.holcombe@gcsu.edu.

Laberinto Journal is a peer-reviewed publication sponsored by the Arizona Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies (ACMRS), the School of International Letters and Cultures (SILC) at Arizona State University, in conjunction with the Spanish and Portuguese Section within SILC. <https://www.acmrs.org/journals/>

Laberinto Journal is indexed in the MLA International Bibliography, ITER bibliography, and the Open Journal System (hosted by the University of Toronto Libraries).
